PROSPECTUS.

1. An ENCYCLOPEDIA is indispensable to every library, as a concentration of human knowledge; while to the voyager, the naval and military officer, the colonist, and that numerous class of enterprising Britons - whose want of a settled residence may isolate them from the world of letters, it is the only possible substitute for all other books. Works of this description are therefore among those few literary projects which have uniformly secured the patronage of the public. The reason, is obvious: an Encyclopaedia is to the rising education of the country at once a reservoir and a fountain-it receives perpetual accessions of knowledge from the genius of the age, which it yields again in willing abundance to posterity.
2. With the ancients, the term Encyclopaedia, explained itself. It was really Instruction in a cycle, i. e. the cycle of the seven liberal Arts and Sciences, that constituted the course of education for the 'higher class of citizens. Unfortunately, the inap
